Here's What CWA Management Can Do For You

We develop and execute a Central Withholding Agreement with the IRS that limits over-withholding of income earned by foreign performers in the U.S. This includes revenue from performances and appearances, as well as endorsements and sponsorships.

As your designated withholding agent we become the only entity required to deposit withholdings on your behalf thereby eliminating the potential for duplicate withholding.

As your designated withholding agent We Will:

- Ensure your compliance with IRS requirements
- Work with you to develop a detailed performance budget
- Negotiate your Central Withholding Agreement with the IRS
- Deposit transactions required by the executed CWA

Why You Need

CWA Management

CWA Management is the leading U.S. based company authorized to negotiate agreements with the IRS on behalf of foreign athletes and entertainers. Negotiating a Central Withholding Agreement (CWA) with the Internal Revenue Service can make a dramatic difference when it comes to your tax withholding liability and cash flow.

With a CWA

Income tax is withheld on projected NET income and is withheld by only one designated withholding agent.

Without a CWA

Internal Revenue Code Section 1441 requires that 30% of the projected GROSS earned by foreign athletes and entertainers be withheld at the source and deposited for these performers in the U.S. Treasury.

It's Time To Discover

What We Can Do For You

When it comes to safeguarding the earnings of nonresident alien performers and athletes working in the US, it's important to think ahead.

IRS policy requires that CWA applications be made at least 90 days prior to the time the agreement will take effect, though they will attempt to complete any CWA applications submitted at least 45 days before the start of the tour or event. Any CWA requests submitted with fewer than 45 days lead time will be considered on a case-by-case basis.

At CWA Management we understand the fast-paced nature of the sports and entertainment industries. That's why we have put systems in place to help you take advantage of emerging opportunities in the timeliest manner possible. The earlier we are involved, the better we can represent your interests.

We look forward to helping you and the foreign athletes or performers you represent avoid over-withholding of income tax before your next U.S. engagement.
